

Research and Publication Colloquium

Challenges in post-industrial labour markets

In the context of post-industrial labour markets, we witness manifold challenges and developments. Be it in terms of new risk structures, adverse outcomes or changing institutional settings. In this colloquium we would like to gather scholars interested in labour markets and their interrelation with society to discuss their research and provide a platform to get feedback on their work-in progress.

Topics of interest could include among other questions linked to:

- New forms of social inequality and compensation demands resulting from changing labour market structures. What strategies do governments apply to re-insert long-term unemployed, immigrants, or individuals with obsolete skills into an increasingly competitive labour market? What kind of outcomes do these policies have on different groups?
- The consequences of competitive labour markets on the appointing strategy of companies. What kinds of strategies do employers apply when choosing their collaborators and what kind of discriminatory patterns may arise?

Schedule spring 2018

Date	Authors	Paper title	Discussant	Room IDHEAP
24.04.2018	Leen Vandecasteele, University of Lausanne	Locked in Place: Neighborhoods, Networks and Unemployment	Giuliano Bonoli	006
22.05.2018	David Weisstanner, University of Bern	The worries of the middle class: Flexible employment and subjective labor market insecurity	Aurélien Abrassart	006
29.05.2018	Mailys Korber, University of Lausanne	Between vocational or general education at upper-secondary level: How do educational tracks impact initial wages and wage growth during early careers?	Anna Wilson	006
26.06.2018	Fabienne Liechti, IDHEAP	Connecting employers and workers: Can recommendations from the public employment service act as a substitute for social contacts in the labour market?	Leen Vandecasteele	006

Organisation:

The colloquium entails a presentation of the paper for max. 20', then 10' comments by a discussant and 30' general discussion.

The paper to be discussed will be circulated 7 days in advance, to give the discussant and the participants enough time to prepare their comments.

The colloquium will be held on Tuesdays from 12.15-13.15. We provide sandwiches for the participants.

If you are interested to attend the colloquium or you would like to present a paper next semester, please contact Fabienne Liechti by sending an email to fabienne.liechti@unil.ch. For additional information refer to our homepage: www.unil.ch/idheap/LMC